SINGAPORE: The National University of Singapore Law Faculty marked its 50 years of legal education in Singapore at its Bukit Timah campus on Tuesday.

The event also saw President S R Nathan launch a commemorative book titled "Scales of Gold: 50 years of Legal Education at the NUS Faculty of Law".

The book traces the faculty's development from offering law degrees to the whole of Malaysia and Singapore to its current status as Asia's Global Law School.

It was also a trip down memory lane for President Nathan, who was a former student of the University of Malaya when it was located at the Bukit Timah campus.

He met old friends and was later taken on a guided tour of the restored campus.
