39 STUDENTS GRADUATE WITH DUAL LAW MASTERS

Yesterday, 39 students from 21 countries received their dual Masters of Law degree awarded by the New York University but taught here in Singapore.

The 10-month long global law programme sees students — from as far as Kenya and Argentina — study subjects like human rights, and corporate law.

According to the programme’s director, about a third of the graduates will remain here working in international law firms. Some 60 students are expected for the next term, and the number is expected to increase to 100 within the next two years.
