You are about to make one of the more important decisions in your life. The choice of degree and university has a major impact on the trajectory of your career. But as you contemplate your course of study, I urge you to think broadly. Don’t just think about “what” you want to be. Rather, think about whom you want to be.

NUS Law graduates occupy the highest legal offices in the land, including the Chief Justice, the Attorney-General, and senior practitioners in all areas of law. Our alumni include partners in top international firms in New York and London, Hong Kong and Shanghai.

Some of our graduates assume public office, like President Halimah Yacob and Law Minister K. Shanmugam. Others join academia or represent Singapore on the international stage, like former Dean and Ambassador-at-Large Tommy Koh. Still others use their legal training to start new ventures in the corporate world, like Tan Min-Liang, CEO of gaming giant Razer, or apply their skills with language as playwrights or actors, like Eleanor Wong and Ivan Heng.

“Don’t just think about ‘what’ you want to be. Rather, think about whom you want to be.”
NUS Law offers rigorous legal training, but we also teach personal and professional skills that enable our graduates to operate across boundaries. This includes national boundaries, through the chance to spend a semester or more of your third year at partner law schools in twenty countries, or your fourth year earning a Master of Laws degree from New York University, King's College London, or other leading institutions. We also cross imaginary boundaries, as you may take subjects outside law from across the University — in some cases earning you a second degree from life sciences to liberal arts — and participate in activities that broaden you as a person, such as the many opportunities for public service.

At NUS Law, you will be part of the conversation. Our professors expect you to challenge them, to share new ideas, and debate different perspectives. In my own classes, the good students can answer my questions; the best students can predict those questions. But the truly great students pose questions I had never imagined!

We don’t aim, then, to produce “lawyers”. We aim to produce leaders who can be successful in whatever path they choose.

You have an important decision to make. Choose well.

Simon Chesterman
Dean and Professor of Law, National University of Singapore
“Our ambition is to be the best law school in Asia and one of the best in the world. This is where civilisations of the world meet and co-mingle. We offer faculty and students a unique multi-cultural milieu for study, research and mutual learning.”

Professor Tommy Koh
Class of 1961
Ambassador-at-Large
Former Dean of NUS Law
Tradition and History

The Faculty of Law is part of the National University of Singapore (NUS), the oldest tertiary institution in Singapore. NUS traces its rich history to the founding of the Straits Settlements and Federated Malay States Government Medical School in 1905. The Medical School was renamed the King Edward VII College of Medicine in 1912. In 1949, it merged with Raffles College (itself set up in 1929) to form the University of Malaya.

The roots of the Faculty of Law lie in the establishment of the Department of Law in the then University of Malaya in 1956. The first law students were admitted to the Bukit Timah campus of the University in 1957. In 1959, the Department attained Faculty status with Professor Lionel Astor (“Lee”) Sheridan serving as the founding Dean.

The pioneer class of law students graduated in 1961, counting among its most illustrious members Professor Tommy Koh (Ambassador-at-Large and former Dean), former Chief Justice Chan Sek Keong, former Dean Thio Su Mien, Emeritus Professor Koh Kheng Lian, former Solicitor-General Koh Eng Tian and former Police Commissioner Goh Yong Hong.

In the early 1960s, the governments of Singapore and Malaya announced their desire for the Singapore and Kuala Lumpur divisions of the University of Malaya to become autonomous national universities in their respective territories. Thus, on 1 January 1962, the University of Singapore was born. Singapore was admitted to the Federation of Malaysia on 16 September 1963. The union lasted until 9 August 1965, when Singapore became an independent republic.

Throughout this period and thereafter, the Faculty of Law continued to flourish as part of the University of Singapore. In 1980, the University of Singapore and Nanyang University (Nantah) were merged to form the National University of Singapore (NUS). With that, the Faculty of Law became part of the modern NUS, simultaneously moving to its new Kent Ridge campus.

A quarter century later, it was announced that the Bukit Timah Campus would be returned to NUS. The Faculty of Law, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, and several research institutes made the move from Kent Ridge back to the hallowed grounds of Bukit Timah. The University opened its doors there once again on 17 July 2006.
“The most important things you will do to make a difference to society are ahead of you. Think of these days as a time of preparation for what is to come. Use what you learn here to bring new perspectives to the cause of making the world a better place. And care about injustice. That is why you have chosen to become lawyers.”

Sundaresh Menon
Class of 1986
Chief Justice
There are many reasons why students seek and value an education at NUS Law. Among them are the strength of our teaching and research, the diverse range of undergraduate programmes we offer, and the exciting local and international opportunities that a law degree at NUS offers.

With a rich heritage spanning 60 years, NUS Law is one of the finest law schools in the world and is widely regarded as Asia’s leading law school. We believe in creative and independent learning. Research opportunities, continuous assessment, tutorials, presentations and seminar-style teaching are emphasised, bolstered by the finest law library in all of Asia.

Home to over 70 permanent faculty with law degrees from more than a dozen jurisdictions, NUS Law is an institution dedicated to building a community and an environment in which faculty and students can discuss and reflect on the fundamental legal issues that affect societies in today's globalised world.
Faculty Publications 2018

“I joined the Law Club for one purpose – to build a warmer NUS Law community. Be it organising an arbitration moot under the Mooting & Debating Club or helping convicted inmates through the Criminal Justice Club, you have the responsibility, and the freedom to take charge of your student life and live it to the fullest.”

Sia Bao Huei

“Being a national sprinter and a student are both full-time jobs. To excel in both requires a lot of discipline and sacrifice. I am glad to have met so many great friends. Law school would have been so much tougher and lonely without them, but with them, infinitely more fulfilling.”

Student Life and Beyond

Centre for Future-Ready Graduates

The Centre for Future-Ready Graduates is a new-era career centre that helps NUS students thrive in a world of constant change, ensuring they are truly ready for the future.

The centre provides students with access to career-readiness programmes, career and internship opportunities, professional career advisory and valuable industry insights. Law students have access to:
- Annual On-Campus Career Fair
- Lunchtime Career Talks
- Internships
- Career Guidance

The Law Club

The NUS Students’ Law Club (also known simply as the “Law Club”) is a constituent club of NUSSU and is made up of law undergraduates and graduates. The Law Club Management Committee and its six subsidiary clubs organise events throughout the year. These range from the Law Careers Fair to school events like Open Day and Orientation, and chill-out social events on campus.

The Law Club’s Management Committee also represents the voice of its members, and communicates to NUSSU and the school administration about the needs of our students.

Welfare and Social Activities
- Law School Chill-outs
- Exam Welfare Drive

Sports Events
- Inter-Faculty Games
- Law Fraternity Games
- Law-Medicine Challenge
- Linklaters Law Beach Games
- Quahe, Woo & Palmer Law Faculty Soccer League
- Rajah & Tann Lounge Games

NUS Student Clubs

The larger university campus bustles with a wide range of co-curricular activities organised throughout the year by the NUS Students’ Union (NUSSU) and its societies, clubs and associations. Many of the activities are organised for fraternising and fun; time out from the demands and pressures of studies.
Law Sub-Clubs

NUS Criminal Justice Club

The Criminal Justice Club (CJC) is an official sub-club under the Law Club, and its guiding motto is ‘In Truth and Justice’.

The sub-club organises annual signature events such as the Attorney-General’s Cup and the Criminal Justice Conference, and also hosts dialogs to discuss issues of criminal law.

Its flagship projects are the Innocence Project (Singapore) and the Military Justice Project. It also facilitates collaboration and internships with the Legal Assistance Scheme for Capital Offences (LASCO) and the Criminal Legal Aid Scheme (CLAS).

NUS Pro Bono Group

The NUS Pro Bono Group (PBG) is a student-run organisation dedicated to the promotion of pro bono service among law students. Members believe that a strong culture of voluntarism benefits both the community and the volunteer.

The PBG’s projects include court attachments (e.g. with the State courts and Syariah courts), clinical placements, community outreach programmes (e.g. Students 4 Migrants), peer support (e.g. via the Student Disciplinary Assistance Scheme) and an annual Pro Bono Awareness Week.

PBG programmes and representatives have also been mentioned and featured in the media (e.g. State Courts Representative Programme).
"At NUS Law, student life matters. From sporting, social and artistic events to award-winning pro bono activities and international advocacy competitions, your experience here can be as vibrant outside the classroom as within it."

Associate Professor Eleanor Wong
Class of 1985
Vice Dean (Student Life & Global Relations)
Director, Legal Skills Programme
Singapore Law Review
The Singapore Law Review (SLR) is an independent legal publication body, exclusively run by students. Founded in 1959, the Review provides a platform for legal scholarship and aims to raise awareness of current legal issues, promote critical legal thinking, writing, and discussion amongst students, academics and members of the legal fraternity, and empower the Review members to hone their own editing and writing skills.

The SLR journal is an annual publication by the Review which features articles written by Justices of the Supreme Court, eminent scholars, legal practitioners, and law students from Singapore and abroad. The Review also manages the online legal newsletter, Juris Illuminae. Beyond these publications, the Review organises an annual lecture featuring legal luminaries on topics of their specialisation or interest.

NUS Mooting & Debating Club
The Mooting and Debating Club (MDC) promotes oratorical skills and the passion for mooting, debating and advocacy among law students.

The MDC is responsible for organising various local mooting competitions, such as the B.A. Mallal Moots, the Advocacy Cup, the WongPartnership International Commercial Arbitration Moot and the Gowling WLG IP Moot. It also hosts a series of informal sessions for members to engage in informal debates and discussions.

The MDC administers the Young Mooters Programme that provides students opportunities to cut their teeth (on a not-for-academic-credit basis) at international competitions.

Law Students’ International Relations Committee
The NUS Law Students International Relations Committee (LSIRC) engages international students through events and activities that introduce our foreign friends to Singapore and help them integrate into the law school community. LSIRC also plans internal school events, such as panel discussions (e.g. Practice Beyond Borders) and overseas study trips.

LSIRC is a local chapter of the Asian Law Students Association (ALSA) Singapore.

Justified (justified.nuslawclub.com)
Justified is a student sub-club that chronicles happenings around the school and beyond on its website.

Besides event coverage, it also covers an array of other interesting stories, ranging from food reviews and lifestyle articles to creative pieces written by the students.

Beyond these formal student clubs, our students also participate in a variety of interest groups.

alt+Law is a student-led legal technology interest group. It organised the first Legal Tech Competition in 2018 that was sponsored by WongPartnership and open to all NUS students.

Environmental Law Students Association (ELSA) aims to create awareness of environmental law and policy in the law school community.

Law IV is an NUS Law tradition where the graduating class will write, direct and stage a full dramatic piece, usually a musical. Proceeds from the production would be donated to a nominated charity.
“NUS Law believes in empowering its students. I feel that being a part of the Criminal Justice Club and Military Justice Project has given my legal education purpose, because what I learn in the classroom helps me to appreciate how the law interacts with society – and how it can be better developed.”

Undergraduate Programmes

Whether you pursue a four-year Bachelor of Laws (LL.B.) degree, a three-year Graduate LL.B. (GLB) programme or any of our Double or Concurrent Degree programmes, you will be assured of a quality legal education at Asia’s Global Law School.

Curriculum-wise, around half of the required subjects in the LL.B. programme are compulsory common law courses that are critical for legal practice.

With most compulsories completed by Year Two, there is flexibility for you to craft your own menu of elective modules in Years Three and Four. You can select electives in areas such as:

- Asian Legal Studies
- Civil Law (Compulsory)
- Corporate & Financial Services Law
- Intellectual Property & Technology Law
- International & Comparative Law
- International Arbitration & Dispute Resolution
- Maritime Law
- Law & Society
- Research and Skills
(or to do any of these while on overseas student exchange).

Such flexibility and course diversity are unparalleled and are made possible only because of the excellent and diverse teaching staff at the Law School.

The LL.B. degree is not only an undergraduate honours degree; it is also a professional degree that is recognised for admission to practise in Singapore. Our graduates have also been admitted to practise in Malaysia, in several Commonwealth jurisdictions such as Australia, Canada and the United Kingdom, and some states in the US such as California and New York.

Bachelor of Laws (Honours) Degree
LL.B. (Four Years)

The majority of our LL.B. students enter the Faculty of Law after completing their pre-university studies and read the four-year LL.B. degree.

Graduate LL.B. (GLB) Programme
(Three Years)

The GLB programme allows students who have completed an undergraduate degree (or higher) in another discipline to complete a Bachelor of Laws (Honours) degree in three instead of four years. The programme helps to inject multidisciplinary expertise into the legal profession, which increasingly requires more sophisticated and technical knowledge in many areas. The GLB is NUS Law’s version of the Juris Doctor (J.D.).
Compulsory Core Curriculum

The LL.B. degree is an honours degree. Students in the four-year LL.B. programme must complete a minimum total of 160 credits in four years. Students in the GLB programme must complete a minimum total of 120 credits in three years.

Successful completion of the LL.B. programme leads to the award of the following classes of degrees: First Class Honours, Second Class Honours (Upper Division and Lower Division), and Third Class Honours.

Since 1997, only graduates with at least a Second Class (Lower Division) degree qualify for legal practice in Singapore. GLB students obtain the same LL.B. degree as students who complete the four-year LL.B. programme. They are also awarded the same classes of honours as the four-year LL.B. students.

For more information, please visit: law.nus.edu.sg/admissions/llb_prog.html

All LL.B. students are required to take the same compulsory core law modules during the first two years of their studies, as well as one compulsory module in the third or fourth year. For their remaining modules in the LL.B. programme, students may choose from a wide variety of elective modules, allowing them to pursue their interest in a particular field of law.

For more information, please visit: law.nus.edu.sg/student_matters/course_listing/compulsory_subject.html

Evidence
One formidable strength of NUS Law is the broad and diverse range of elective modules that we offer. Students choose modules from many clusters including Asian Legal Studies, Civil Law, Corporate & Financial Services Law, Intellectual Property & Technology Law, International & Comparative Law, International Arbitration & Dispute Resolution, Maritime Law, Law & Society, Research and Skills.

While the modules range from the theoretical to the practical, the overriding objective is to provide students with a liberal education through the medium of law that will allow them to maximise their potential to the fullest degree.

Accordingly, many of the modules integrate relevant cross disciplinary and policy perspectives so as to give students a deep and rich understanding of how the law operates within society and the factors that influence the development and application of the law. The elective modules we offer are listed as follows. (The electives offered in any given year are subject to change.)

Elective Modules

Visiting Professors

Every year, NUS Law hosts over two dozen visiting professors. They come from some of the top universities in the world including Harvard, Yale, Oxford, Cambridge, the LSE, Melbourne and Hong Kong University among many others.

Our international visiting faculty conduct classes on their area of expertise during their time with us and they add to the cosmopolitan nature of our law school by bringing their own unique perspectives to the legal education offered by NUS Law.

LL.B. + Non-Law Minor

NUS Law students also benefit from being enrolled in Singapore’s only fully comprehensive university, one that offers truly diverse subjects ranging from aquatics to theatre studies, nano-science to e-finance, across our 17 faculties and schools. Our Law students not only read the occasional non-Law module; some students choose to specialise in a targeted non-Law Minor. Minors like Communications & New Media, Economics, and Management perfectly complement Law and ready our graduates for a future in which law is not practised in isolation and law graduates may not only practise law. To declare a Minor, the student must take a specified minimum number of credits in the minor discipline. A Minor is completed within the LL.B. candidature. Currently, students can choose from over 60 minors offered by our Business School, and our Faculties of Arts, Science, and Engineering, just to name a few.

“My first year in NUS Law was challenging yet fulfilling. I encountered professors who were extremely encouraging and often went the extra mile, whether it was through consultations or staying back after class to address any queries we may have. This supportive and nurturing environment definitely made all the difference in my first year and is something I am incredibly grateful for.”

In addition to our LL.B., NUS Law also offers the following Programmes:

Double Degree in Business Administration (B.B.A. (Hons)) & Law (LL.B. (Hons))

The double honours degree in Business Administration and Law is a five-year programme offered jointly by the Business School and the Faculty of Law. The programme is established in line with NUS’s aim of attracting the best students from Singapore and around the world, keen on having a quality education and leveraging on interdisciplinary opportunities in a university ranked amongst the world’s best. Students who successfully complete this programme will be awarded both Bachelor of Business Administration (Honours) and Bachelor of Laws (Honours) degrees.

Double Degree in Economics (B.Soc.Sci. (Hons)) & Law (LL.B. (Hons))

The double honours degree in Economics and Law is a five-year programme offered jointly by the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences and the Faculty of Law, leading to both the degrees of Bachelor of Social Sciences (Honours) and Bachelor of Laws (Honours). Economics and Law are, in some areas, complementary disciplines. Singapore is a regional centre for legal services, and much of our international legal work involves commercial, corporate and financial law. This means there is—and will continue to be—a demand for lawyers with a strong background in Economics, as well as for economists trained in law. Likely future employers include law firms, large commercial banks, and institutions such as the Monetary Authority of Singapore and the Competition Commission of Singapore.

Double Degree in Law (LL.B. (Hons)) & Life Sciences (B.Sc. (Hons))

The intersection between law and life sciences is an expansive one, cutting across many research areas including biotechnology, bioethics, environmental regulation, forensic science, and the protection of intellectual property. This five-year double degree programme in Law and Life Sciences leverages on the strength of the Faculty of Law and Faculty of Science in these areas. It enables students to discover the broad connections between law and life sciences and acquire a broad expertise to occupy the niche position linking both disciplines. With effect from cohort AY 2015/2016, the DDP is offered as a Double Honours Degree (with Honours in Law and Life Sciences).
Concurrent Degree in Law (LL.B. (Hons)) & Master in Public Policy (M.P.P)

The concurrent degree programme in Law and Public Policy offers law students, particularly those interested in a career in the legal, civil, or foreign service, the opportunity to complete in four-and-a-half years, two degrees that normally take between six years to complete if pursued separately. The Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy helps its students to understand the complex issues that challenge policymakers daily and offers a strong curriculum anchored firmly within an Asian context. The Faculty of Law, on the other hand, offers rigorous training in public law, international law, and governance, and has a long history of placing its graduates in leading positions within the government and public service.
Exchange Plus Programmes

Exchange Plus programmes are available to students on the four-year LL.B. programme. Under these arrangements, students will complete three years at NUS and then go to one of the partner universities listed below to read an LL.M. for one year. Upon successful completion of the LL.M., NUS Law students will graduate with an LL.B. (Hons) from NUS and an LL.M. from the partner university.

- New York University
- Boston University
- Erasmus University
- King’s College London
- University of Melbourne
- University of Toronto

Students on the three-year GLB programme may also seek admission to the Exchange Plus programme with New York University (NYU). They will commence the LL.M. in the second semester of their third year of studies, completing two and a half years at NUS and one year at NYU to receive both degrees.

“The year I spent at NYU was incredible. I was exposed to fresh ideas and philosophies and given the chance to challenge assumptions I had long held as truths; I was living in a dynamic city that offered a never-ending range of new experiences. All these coupled with the structure and rigour of a master’s degree at a leading university in the world. This would not have been possible if not for the NUS-NYU collaboration which is one of the many unique opportunities available at NUS Law to study abroad.”

Special Programmes

Law-University Town College Programme (UTCP)

The UTCP is a multidisciplinary academic programme offered in the College of Alice & Peter Tan, Residential College 4 and Tembusu College at University Town. This unique programme offers students an opportunity to read prescribed electives outside their majors, and pursue other subjects of interest while living and learning with the College community. Through this programme, students will develop strategies for clear and impactful writing skills, to chisel their inquiry and critical reasoning skills. It also grooms them to be able to clearly articulate their ideas on issues that are of global and Asian concern.

Law-University Scholars Programme (USP)

The USP is an interdisciplinary academic programme for NUS undergraduates housed within the USP residential college. The NUS Law-USP partnership seeks to add a deeper dimension to the classroom and curricular experiences to further enhance intellectual inquiry beyond the disciplinary boundaries. Students who study in USP and NUS Law will follow a curriculum that combines the rigorous aspects of both the USP and the NUS Bachelor of Laws (LL.B.) curriculum. Students of the NUS Law-USP can also look forward to an enhanced and informal learning opportunity through residential living.
Yale-NUS College

Yale-NUS B.A. (Hons) - LL.B. (Hons) Double Degree Programme

This double degree programme in Law and Liberal Arts is an innovative programme offered jointly by Yale-NUS College and NUS Law for those seeking a broad liberal arts education in addition to their professional training in the law. The five-year honours programme was established by Yale-NUS College and NUS with the aim of attracting students of the highest calibre from Singapore and around the world, and training them to practise law in Singapore. This programme will provide an interdisciplinary legal education in a residential, liberal arts setting. Up to 20 students will be admitted into this prestigious programme each year. Students who have met the graduation criteria will be awarded a Bachelor of Arts (Honours) degree from Yale-NUS College and a Bachelor of Laws (Honours) degree from the NUS Law.

Students are required to be resident at Yale-NUS College for the first four years of the programme. At this dedicated campus they will participate fully in the Yale-NUS community and enjoy the benefits of residential college life. In their first year of study they will take Yale-NUS Common Curriculum courses and a Law course. In the second, third and fourth years students will complete the Yale-NUS Common Curriculum, take Yale-NUS electives, and take core and elective Law courses. For Law classes, students travel to the Bukit Timah Campus (BTC), where the Faculty of Law is located. Students are also eligible to participate in a semester of an exchange programme abroad. In the fifth year, students will move out of the Yale-NUS College residential college and continue with their academic pursuits at BTC. Students will also complete a capstone project in their fifth year, which entails a research and writing project in a topic that combines Law and the Liberal Arts.

“The Yale-NUS Double Degree in Law and Liberal Arts allows me the opportunity to pursue my career aspirations while giving me the flexibility to explore a multi-disciplinary and broad-based curriculum that continually hones my critical thinking. This unique and holistic education has helped me to develop my intellectual and professional skills. The four-year residential living experience has also allowed me to be a part of a tightly-knit community, one that I actively contribute to and helped to build.”

1 Special programme offered by a joint venture of leading law schools, including NUS Law School
Explore Asia and the Globe

The Student Exchange Programme offers an excellent opportunity to study the laws of a foreign legal system up close. Exchange students experience different cultures and lifestyles, make new acquaintances, and of course, travel. The Programme enables NUS Law students to spend either one or both semesters of their third year in one of our partner law schools.

Students in the concurrent degree programme may spend one semester of their third year and students in the double degree programme may spend one semester of their fourth year in one of our partner universities. NUS Law also hosts incoming exchange students from our partner universities, adding to the vibrancy of the Law School.

“I truly appreciated the wonderful food, the great people and the magnificent views in Toronto and Canada. I had the chance to explore places I never knew existed, pick up hobbies I was always curious about and test ideas that seemed too unconventional. It was also an honour to study under the leading practitioners at the University of Toronto. In essence, my exchange to Toronto was amazing! I would not have chosen anywhere else for my exchange.”

Terence Teoh
Class of 2017
University of Toronto

“The Student Exchange Programme was definitely an unforgettable experience; from meaningful encounters with people from diverse cultural backgrounds to interesting and engaging conversations with passionate and dedicated professors. Indeed, being away from your family and loved ones for half a year may seem daunting at first. However, the friends that you make and the extremely welcoming staff and faculty will truly make for a wonderful exchange experience that opens the mind, touches the heart, and enriches the soul.”

“My exchange to London was the best part of my University life! Right in the heart of Europe’s greatest business city, the Center for Transnational Legal Studies brought together professors and students from all over the world. The classes involved topics such as human rights, poverty and terrorism and I learnt the most from the robust discussions between the students and professors. During the semester, we studied hard but played just as hard! In fact, I was able to tour some of the most beautiful places on earth such as Stonehenge, Edinburgh, and the Azores Islands.”

Admissions

Four-Year LL.B. Programme

Each year, around 240 students enter the LL.B. programmes at the Faculty of Law. Although most of the LL.B. students are Singaporeans, the programme is also open to international students.

For more information: law.nus.edu.sg/admissions/llb_prog.html

Eligibility for Application

Applicants presenting the Singapore - Cambridge ‘A’ level results should have good overall ‘A’ level results, including at least B grade in H1 General Paper (GP), or a good pass in H2 Knowledge & Inquiry (KI), or a minimum SAT Critical Reading/Evidence-Based Reading and Writing score of 700 accompanied by a minimum E grade for GP / KI.

An improved GP grade of B or better or a good pass in KI from another sitting can qualify one for application to Law, but only the GP or KI grade obtained in the same sitting as the other main ‘A’ level content papers can be used for computation of the admission score.

Applicants presenting an acceptable Diploma from a Polytechnic in Singapore should possess excellent ‘O’ level results, at least A2 grade in English Language at ‘O’ level and preferably a Certificate of Merit (COM) from their polytechnic studies.
Applicants who present the NUS High School Diploma must possess at least B+ grade for English EL5101 and EL6103, or a minimum SAT Critical Reading/Evidence-Based Reading and Writing score of 700 with at least C grade for English EL5101 and EL6103.

Applicants presenting the International Baccalaureate (IB) qualification should possess good IB results, including a grade 5 or better for SL/HL English A: Language and Literature, SL/HL English A: Literature, SL/HL English B or SL Literature & Performance or a minimum SAT Critical Reading /Evidence-Based Reading and Writing score of 700 accompanied by a minimum grade 4 for SL English or SL Literature & Performance. Those completing IB in the year of admission to NUS may apply based on their projected results.

International applicants with qualifications other than those mentioned above should have equivalent high school qualifications. Those who possess high school qualifications which are in the non-English medium are required to submit proof of their proficiency in the English language, for example, a minimum TOEFL score of 600 (paper-based) or 100 (internet-based) or IELTS score of 7.0.

“The NUS Law education nurtures a world-ready lawyer, grounded in Singapore’s and Asia’s cultures. NUS Law graduates are in high demand with both local and foreign employers, in legal and other sectors. NUS Law has prepared me well for my legal career and community work.”

Amrin Amin
Class of 2003

Application Procedure

The NUS Office of Admissions (OAM) administers all applications for undergraduate programmes. Different application deadlines and procedures apply to different categories and high school qualifications.

For more information: nus.edu.sg/oam

Double Degree Programme

For Double Degree programmes, applicants must meet the admission requirements of both NUS Law and NUS Business School, Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, or Faculty of Science. Shortlisted applicants will be required to sit for a written test and attend an interview.

Students beginning their studies in either of the two schools can also apply for the programme in Semester Two of their first year of study at NUS.

Shortlisting and Selection

To be considered for the shortlisting for the written test and interview, applicants should indicate Law as the first or second choice under the choice of courses. Those seeking admission to the 3-year Graduate LL.B. programme should indicate ‘3-year Law for University Graduates’ as the first choice.

Selection shall be solely within the discretion of the University and will depend upon the number of places available in the Faculty.

Written Test and Interview

Shortlisted applicants will be required to sit for a written test and attend a formal interview, usually held in mid-April in Singapore.
Three-Year Graduate LL.B. (GLB) Programme

The objective of this programme is to inject multidisciplinary talent into the legal profession, as the demands of the profession become more sophisticated and technical in certain areas like patent law, environmental law and computer law. This Programme is open to university graduates with a first degree. Applicants must be prepared to do the course full-time for three years.

Applicants should possess a university degree, preferably in a non-law discipline, or are completing their first degree by June of the year of admission (August intake).

Two academic referees will be required. A copy of the Referee Report Form can be downloaded from our website.

However, if an applicant has left school for some years and is unable to submit academic referees, two recommendation letters from your employers as an alternative will be accepted.

Foreign applicants, whose university degree is in the non-English medium, are required to submit proof of their proficiency in the English language, for example, a minimum TOEFL score of 600 (paper-based) or 100 (internet-based) or IELTS score of 7.0.

The detailed application procedures can be found in the Office of Admissions website at nus.edu.sg/oam.

“As a law student, NUS Law’s rich traditions and strong alumni provided me with a wealth of opportunities to be mentored by inspiring members of Singapore’s legal fraternity, and opened doors to real-world learning experiences that would shape my future legal career. The lifelong bonds and friendships forged at NUS Law are priceless.”

Generally, individuals who wish to be admitted to the Singapore Bar must first be Qualified Persons under the Legal Profession (Qualified Persons) Rules. Individuals with law degrees from NUS will become Qualified Persons if they attain at least lower second class honours.

Law degrees from a number of law schools in the UK, Australia, New Zealand and USA are also recognised. To become Qualified Persons, Singapore citizens and permanent residents with recognised overseas law degrees must attain at least lower second class honours (for UK graduates) or be ranked in the top 70% of their cohort (for non-UK graduates). They must also pass Part A of the Singapore Bar Examinations and accrue 6 months of relevant legal training, practice or work.

All Qualified Persons must undertake a compulsory practical law course and pass an examination known as Part B of the Singapore Bar Examinations and complete a 6-month training contract at a Singapore Law Practice.

For more information, please visit the Singapore Institute of Legal Education website at sile.edu.sg.

“It is impossible to name just one quality to make a success in the law. Some important qualities are focus and determination and also an ability to listen and hear the whole story before jumping in with an opinion and solution. Underlying everything is integrity. Tuition Fees

The cohort-based fee system has been implemented since Academic Year 2008 / 2009. Under this system, tuition fees for the new undergraduate intake cohort of students will be fixed throughout the student’s entire candidature. This enables students to better plan the financing of their undergraduate studies.

Per annum amounts for the Undergraduate Intake Cohort of AY2018 / 2019 (in Singapore Dollars).

Details of tuition fees for Academic Year AY2019 / 2020 will be published at the Registrar’s Office website at nus.edu.sg/registrar/education-at-nus/undergraduate-education/fees.html.

Mandatory Miscellaneous Fees

Miscellaneous fees are typically levied on items that are either not covered or partially covered by the tuition fee and grant. All students, whether registered on a full-time or part-time basis, are charged the mandatory miscellaneous fees. These are due at the same time as the tuition fees. These fees fall into the following general categories – registration, student activity, health service and insurance, and academic-related – and contribute towards defraying associated costs thereof.
Scholarships, Awards & Financial Assistance

NUS offers a variety of scholarships and awards in recognition of outstanding academic achievements, leadership qualities and special talents. We are also committed to a needs-blind merit-based admission policy that ensures no deserving student is denied a university education because of financial difficulty. To fulfill this commitment, a Student Financial Aid Unit has been set up within the Office of Admissions to provide a visible and integrated approach to assist students with financial difficulties or concerns. Various bursaries and loans are available for our undergraduates.

Faculty Awards

The Faculty also has a number of medals and prizes that are awarded to students who have achieved outstanding academic performance. Prizes for the top students in the respective LL.B. cohorts and numerous subject prizes are awarded after the semester two examinations.

Internships

The Law School encourages our undergraduates to acquaint themselves with legal work through vacation internships with local and foreign law firms, companies and institutions, the Legal Service and other government authorities. Around 85-90% of students do an internship during their four years at the Law School and there is no lack of internship places available. As such, the Law School has made a conscious decision not to make internships a compulsory part of the curriculum, preferring to give our students the flexibility to use their vacation time to pursue other interests, including doing voluntary work.

Our Alumni

The quality of a law school is reflected in its students. At NUS, we like to think that we don’t just give our students a law degree, we also inculcate in them a sense of purpose and a calling. Our alumni occupy the ranks of the judiciary, government, academia, private practice, business, the arts and media communities as well as almost every niche of professional life in Singapore. Many of our alumni have also achieved prominence in North America, Europe, Australia and Asia. In particular, due to Singapore’s historical connection to Malaysia, many members of the Malaysian legal fraternity are also graduates of NUS Law.

Some of our prominent alumni include:
- Halimah Yacob ‘78, LL.M. ’01, LL.D. ’16 (Honoris Causa), 8th President of the Republic of Singapore
- Sundaresh Menon ‘86, Chief Justice
- Tommy Koh ’61, Ambassador-at-Large
- S. Jayakumar ’63, former Deputy Prime Minister
- Judith Prakash ’74, Judge of Appeal
- Lucien Wong SC ’78, Attorney-General
- Steven Chong SC ’82, Judge of Appeal
- K. Shanmugam SC ’84, Minister for Home Affairs & Minister for Law
- Eleanor Wong ’85, Vice Dean (Student Life & Global Relations) and playwright
- Indranee Rajah ’86, Minister in the Prime Minister’s Office, Second Minister for Finance and Education
- Ong Keng Sen ’88, Artistic Director, TheatreWorks
- Gregory Vijayendran ’92, President, Law Society of Singapore
- Tan Min-Liang ’02, Co-Founder and CEO, Razer Inc.
- Priscilla Shunmugam ’06, Founder and Designer, Ong Shunmugam

“We have a duty to make sure that our students are prepared to function in the real world, so I try to bring into my teaching the experience I’ve accumulated over the years. This is so that they can have some idea of what it would be like in real life, after they’ve left here.”
