ASIA’S GLOBAL LAW SCHOOL

The NUS Faculty of Law is Asia’s Global Law School. Widely regarded as the region’s leading law school, we nonetheless see ourselves as part of a global conversation about the study and practice of law. The graduate programme is integral to that vision, bringing lawyers from dozens of countries to Singapore — one of the world’s most dynamic and open economies, and the gateway for many multinational corporations to Asia.

MORE INFORMATION

GRADUATE STUDIES
Faculty of Law
National University of Singapore
Eu Tong Sen Building
469 Bukit Timah Road
Singapore 259776

Web: http://law.nus.edu.sg/grad
E-mail: lawGRADadm@nus.edu.sg
Tel: +65 6601 1503
ASIA'S GLOBAL LAW SCHOOL

The NUS Faculty of Law is Asia’s Global Law School. Widely regarded as the region’s leading law school, we embrace our role as a central actor of a global conversation about the study and practice of law. The graduate programme is integral to this vision, bringing lawyers from dozens of countries to Singapore — one of the most dynamic and open economies in the world, and the gateway for many multinational corporations in Asia.

MORE INFORMATION

GRADUATE STUDIES
Faculty of Law
National University of Singapore
Eu Tong Sen Building
469 Bukit Timah Road
Singapore 259776

Web: http://law.nus.edu.sg/grad
E-mail: lawGRADadm@nus.edu.sg
Tel: +65 6601 1503
NEW YORK
For students seeking a truly global legal qualification, NUS has partnered with New York University School of Law to offer a dual degree programme known informally as NYU@NUS. The programme commences in Singapore in May, with NYU faculty flying to Singapore for intensive classes, continues with the NUS semesters, and concludes in New York City with a programme designed to complement preparations to sit for the New York Bar Exam.

SHANGHAI
Students who want to combine their NUS degree with significant time in China should consider the LL.M. in International Business Law. The programme takes place in Singapore and Shanghai and is offered in partnership with the East China University of Political Science and Law.

MASTER OF LAWS (LL.M.)
The Master of Laws degree offers an opportunity to gain advanced legal skills, knowledge and personal connections that will last a lifetime. Specialisations allow programmes of study to develop expertise in a particular area — or you can design your own LL.M. programme, choosing from around 100 courses offered by the NUS faculty and visiting professors.

- Asian Legal Studies
- Corporate & Financial Services
- Intellectual Property & Technology
- International & Comparative Law
- Maritime Law
- Public Policy

LAW & PUBLIC POLICY
The Law School offers two double degree programmes in partnership with the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy. The LL.M-MPA (Master in Public Administration) and LL.M-MPP (Master in Public Policy) offer broad exposure to the issues and challenges that lawyers and leaders of public institutions face.

DOCTORAL PROGRAMME
The NUS Faculty of Law boasts extraordinary breadth and depth of scholarship, and is committed to cultivating the next generation of academics. Generous scholarships are available for the doctoral programme to cover tuition and basic living expenses.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE
The NYU@NUS programme has a significant number of merit-based scholarships. Scholarships are also available for the other coursework programmes. For details, see the Graduate Studies website.
NEW YORK
For students seeking a truly global legal qualification, NUS has partnered with New York University School of Law to offer a dual degree programme known as “LL.M. from each institution, known informally as NYU@NUS. The programme commences in Singapore in May, with NYU faculty flying to Singapore for intensive classes, continues with the NUS semesters, and concludes in New York City with a programme designed to complement preparations to sit for the New York Bar Exam.

SHANGHAI
Students who want to combine their NUS degree with significant time in China should consider the LL.M. in International Business Law. The programme takes place in Singapore and Shanghai, and is offered in partnership with the East China University of Political Science and Law.

MASTER OF LAWS (LL.M.)
The Master of Laws degree offers an opportunity to gain advanced legal skills, to develop new skills, and to form professional and personal connections that will endure. Specializations allow a programme of study tailored to developing expertise in a particular area — or you can design your own LL.M. programme, choosing from around 100 courses offered by the NUS faculty and visiting professors.

- Asian Legal Studies
- Corporate & Financial Services
- Intellectual Property & Technology
- International & Comparative Law
- Maritime Law

LAW & PUBLIC POLICY
The Law School offers two double degree programmes in partnership with the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy. The LL.M.-MPA and LL.M.-MPP offer broad exposure to the issues and challenges that lawyers and leaders of public institutions face.

DOCTORAL PROGRAMME
The NUS Faculty of Law boasts extraordinary breadth and depth of scholarship, and is committed to cultivating the next generation of academics. Generous scholarships are available for the doctoral programme to cover tuition and basic living expenses.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE
The NYU@NUS programme has a significant number of merit-based scholarships. Scholarships are also available for other coursework programmes. For details, see the Graduate Studies Web site.
NEW YORK
For students seeking a truly global legal qualification, NUS has partnered with
New York University School of Law to offer a dual degree programme known informally as NYU@NUS. The programme commences in Singapore in May, with NYU faculty flying to Singapore for intensive classes, continues with the NUS semesters, and concludes in New York City with a programme designed to complement preparations to sit for the New York Bar Exam.

SHANGHAI
Students who want to combine their NUS degree with significant time in China should consider the LL.M. in International Business Law. The programme takes place in Singapore and Shanghai and is offered in partnership with the East China University of Political Science and Law.

MASTER OF LAWS (LL.M.)
The Master of Laws degree offers an opportunity to gain new skills, to develop new outlooks, and to form professional and personal connections that will last a lifetime. Specialisations allow programmes of study tailored to developing expertise in a particular area — or you can design your own LL.M. programme, choosing from around 100 courses offered by the NUS faculty and visiting professors.

- Asian Legal Studies
- Corporate & Financial Services
- Intellectual Property & Technology
- International & Comparative Law
- Maritime Law

LAW & PUBLIC POLICY
The Law School offers two double degree programmes in partnership with the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy. The LL.M. in Public Administration and LL.M. in Public Policy offer broad exposure to the issues and challenges that lawyers and leaders of public institutions face.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE
The NYU@NUS programme has a significant number of merit-based scholarships. Scholarships are also available for the other coursework programmes. For details, see the Graduate Studies Web site.
ASIA’S GLOBAL LAW SCHOOL

The NUS Faculty of Law is Asia’s Global Law School. Widely regarded as the region’s leading law school, we nonetheless see ourselves as part of a global conversation about the study and practice of law. The graduate programme is integral to this vision, bringing lawyers from dozens of countries to Singapore—one of the most dynamic and open economies in the world, and the gateway for many multinational corporations in Asia.