

Title of Talk: Careers in Compliance & Regulatory Consulting

Synopsis: Financial services have become a key pillar of Singapore's economy in the last decade. As the sector grows, there is a need for compliance personnel. What is compliance, where did it stem from, is it important, if so where and how and what are the career opportunities for legally trained persons?

Sinyee Koh, an alumnus of NUS Law School, talks about her journey from legal practice to her current job as compliance consultant. She will also share her observations about how compliance is developing in Singapore and what to look out for when making decisions about your career.

Speaker

Ms Sinyee Koh
Director, Compliance &
Regulatory Consulting
Duff & Phelps

Sinyee manages Duff & Phelps' Compliance and Regulatory Consulting Practice in Singapore. She advises financial services firms on licensing and ongoing Monetary Authority of Singapore and cross-border regulatory requirements and reviews firms' risk management, internal controls and compliance arrangements.

Before joining the firm, Sinyee practiced in the Hong Kong and London offices of Herbert Smith, a top City law firm. Her practice areas were contentious financial services regulation and white collar investigations. From 2008 to 2014, Sinyee worked at the Monetary Authority of Singapore where she handled various roles including enforcement, investigating and prosecuting market abuse and mis-selling, and financial market strategy development.
