

I desire that I have vitamins after meals
I desire that I please my father

I desire that I pursue Philosophy
I desire that I please my father..

At time t_1 , I value x in such a way that if I thought that I might cease to value x at time t_n , I would entrench things in such a way that at time t_n , I would be living by value x , despite the fact that I would not value x at time t_n .

Liberalism's most honoured slogan says this:
Individual citizens must be left unimpeded ///// to pursue their own values and conceptions of the good life.

--We have held many false beliefs in the past.

--So, many of our current beliefs may be false.

Therefore, we should tolerate beliefs that go against our current convictions, in case we are wrong and those dissenting beliefs are true.
