ABOUT THE LECTURE

Since the Great Financial Crisis, the development of financial regulation has been extensive. The regulatory landscape in the EU and the EU Single Rulebook have significantly contributed to this evolution. This lecture provides an overview of the EU regulatory framework and offers insight into why and how banks differ from non-financial companies. It will also examine how the proliferation of remuneration rules across various legal fields (company law, financial law and sustainable finance) challenges the overall consistency of the EU Single Rulebook. Finally, the lecture will offer an outlook on the current political agenda in the EU aimed at strengthening the simplification and the efficiency of the regulatory and supervisory framework for banks.

ABOUT THE CENTRE FOR BANKING & FINANCE LAW

The Centre for Banking & Finance Law (CBFL) at the Faculty of Law, National University of Singapore, seeks to generate scholarship and promote thinking about the vibrancy, robustness and soundness of the banking sector, capital markets and other financial services. Through the research our scholars undertake and the events we organise, we seek to create and share knowledge, to engage stakeholders in an exchange of ideas, and to enhance the appreciation of legal and regulatory issues. We aim to bring greater theoretical and analytical clarity to these issues, to examine their policy impact, and to be a catalyst for ideas on how to improve banking and financial systems at the national, regional and global levels.
