

CONSTITUTIONALISM IN ASIAN CONTEXTS

13 & 14 June 2018
Wednesday & Thursday

Lee Sheridan Conference Room, Eu Tong Sen Building
Faculty of Law, National University of Singapore

ABSTRACT

This project explores what is termed “contextual analysis” of constitutional systems, a concept that arises inter alia from the publication of books on 11 Asian countries (namely Pakistan, India, China, Japan, Taiwan, Vietnam, Indonesia, Malaysia, Thailand, Singapore, and the Independent states of Central Asia), in the Hart Publishing/Bloomsbury series “Constitutional Systems of the World”. Convened by Professor Andrew Harding in NUS Faculty of Law, a founding editor of this book series and a leading scholar of Asian comparative constitutional law, this conference brings together (i) the Hart/Bloomsbury series general editors to reflect on general conceptual and methodological questions, and (ii) scholars who authored the published books to offer further thoughts on “contextual analysis” in a way that has not yet been considered in their books.

PARTICIPANTS

Sadaf Aziz, Lahore University of Management Sciences (via Skype)

Benjamin Berger, York University (via Skype)

Simon Butt, The University of Sydney

Rosalind Dixon, University of New South Wales (via Skype)

Andrew Harding (Convener), National University of Singapore

Heinz Klug, University of Wisconsin-Madison

Peter Leyland, SOAS University of London (via Skype)

Shigenori Matsui, The University of British Columbia

Scott Newton, SOAS University of London

Mark Sidel, University of Wisconsin-Madison

Kevin Tan, National University of Singapore

Arun Thiruvengadam, Azim Premji University

Asanga Welikala, The University of Edinburgh

REGISTRATION

Participation is by invitation only.

As seats are limited, click HERE to register your interest to attend or scan the QR Code:

Deadline for registration: 8 June 2018, Friday

For more information, please contact
Ms Alexandria Chan at cals@nus.edu.sg