

Centre for Asian Legal Studies
Faculty of Law

ASLI | ASIAN LAW
INSTITUTE

ASIAN LAW JUNIOR FACULTY WORKSHOP

11 - 13 January 2021
National University of Singapore
Faculty of Law (Bukit Timah Campus)

Jointly organised by the Centre for Asian Legal Studies (CALs) and the Asian Law Institute (ASLI)

Announcing Presenters for the 2nd Asian Law Junior Faculty Workshop (11 to 13 January 2021).

The Centre for Asian Legal Studies (CALs) and the Asian Law Institute (ASLI) is pleased to announce the selected Presenters for the 2nd Asian Law Junior Faculty Workshop (AsLJFW) from 11 to 13 January 2021. In its second year, the inaugural Asian Law Junior Faculty Workshop was convened on 13 June 2019 and was received with great enthusiasm amongst junior law scholars in the region and around the world. This year, 21 Junior Scholars were chosen from nearly 100 submissions and invited to submit their long papers for review. Following an intensive round of reviews by a diverse committee of leading Asian law scholars, 10 promising Junior Scholars have been selected to present their outstanding papers at the Workshop. They are (in alphabetical order):

- Akio Hoshi (Gakushuin University)
- He Qihao (China University of Political Science and Law)
- Marcus Teo Wei Ren (National University of Singapore)
- Michelle Miao (The Chinese University of Hong Kong)

- Min Yan (Queen Mary University of London)
- Roza Nurgozhayeva (Nazarbayev University)
- Sharon Kun-Amornpong (Thammasat University)
- Suprawee Asanasak (Thammasat University)
- Theodora Pritadianing Saputri (Parahyangan Catholic University)
- Wendy Ng (University of Melbourne)

Congratulations!

The Workshop was initially scheduled to be held in person, in conjunction with the 17th ASLI Conference in New Delhi in June 2020. However, due to restrictions in travel, the Workshop was postponed. It will now be held virtually over 3 half-day sessions from 11-13 January 2021.

Professor Simon Chesterman (Dean, NUS Faculty of Law) will commence the Workshop with opening remarks, alongside welcome remarks by Associate Professors, Jaclyn Neo (Director, Centre for Asian Legal Studies) and Kelry Loi (Director, Asian Law Institute).

At the Workshop, established Asian law scholars will review and comment on their assigned Junior Scholar's paper followed by a constructive discussion among all participants. This process aims to provide a meaningful learning experience for promising Junior Scholars and created valuable links between the next generation of leading Asian law scholars and current leaders in the field of Asian legal studies.

In order to provide an even more productive experience for our Junior Scholars, we have this year included two exclusive Masterclasses relating to publishing books and journal articles, by guest speakers: Dr Kevin Tan Yew Lee (General Co-Editor, Constitutionalism in Asia Series, Hart Publishing), Dr Tan Hsien-Li (General Co-Editor, ASEAN Integration Through Law Book Series, Cambridge University Press) and Dr Joseph Weiler (Co-Editor-in-Chief, European Journal of International Law; Co-Editor-in-Chief of I•CON – the International Journal of Constitutional Law).

For more information: <https://asianlawjrfaculty.com/>. The Workshop is by invitation only. Please email cals@nus.edu.sg, if you wish to receive an invitation to attend. We apologize in advance that very limited spaces are available for this Workshop.

Associate Professor Jaclyn Neo (Director, Centre for Asian Legal Studies)
 Associate Professor Kelry Loi (Co-Director, Asian Law Institute)
 Associate Professor Arif Jamal (Deputy Director, Centre for Asian Legal Studies)
 Associate Professor Wee Meng Seng (Co-Director, Asian Law Institute)

The Asian Law Institute (ASLI) was established in 2003 to foster Asian legal scholarship and to facilitate greater interaction amongst legal scholars in Asia as well as legal scholars outside Asia working on Asian law.

The Centre for Asian Legal Studies (CALs) was established in February 2012 to serve as a dynamic intellectual hub for Asian legal studies in Singapore, for the region, and the global academic community.