DOCTORAL TUITION SCHOLARSHIP IN MARITIME LAW AY2023-2024

15 September 2022

Centre for Maritime Law (CML) ACADEMIC YEAR 2023-2024

The Faculty of Law of the National University of Singapore (NUS Law) is one of the premier law schools in Asia. The Centre for Maritime Law (CML) is one of its leading research centres <https://law.nus.edu.sg/cml/>.

CML is offering ONE fully-funded tuition fee scholarship on the Faculty's PhD programme to Singapore Citizens (SCs) and Singapore Permanent Residents (SPRs), starting August 2023. Successful applicants will receive the tuition fee scholarship for a maximum of four years.

Applicants interested in any branch of commercial maritime or shipping law or admiralty law, or marine insurance law, broadly understood, including the international sale of goods carried by sea, maritime dispute resolution (including maritime arbitration, especially in the Asian context), and offshore oil and gas law are invited to apply. An interest in contemporary developments within these fields is essential.

We do not invite applications from those with primary interests in the international law of the sea, ocean law and policy, or international environmental law.

The successful applicant may be offered a concurrent fractional appointment as a Research Assistant or Research Associate and designated workspace within CML, subject to availability. In addition to the CJ Koh Law Library, the successful applicant will also be given access to CML's own library of maritime texts and online databases, including i-law, Westlaw Asia, and Lloyd's List.

The closing date for applications is 15 November 2022. Application instructions and requirements can be found at https://law1.nus.edu.sg/admissions/app_periods_forms.html.
