regulation that is modular, activity‐based and facilitative of growth and development in the Singapore payments landscape. Hear also from a practitioner for payment services in Singapore, strengthen consumer protection and engender confidence in the use of e‐payments. Learn about the journey towards that risks across the payments value chain are mitigated. A representative from MAS will share how the new Act will enhance the regulatory framework streamlines the regulation of payment services within a single activity‐based legislation, and will replace the existing legislation for payment systems.

The Payment Services Act 2019, passed in Parliament earlier this year, will fundamentally refresh payment services regulation in Singapore. The Act streamlines the regulation of payment services within a single activity-based legislation, and will replace the existing legislation for payment systems oversight, money changing and remittance businesses. It will provide a more conducive environment for innovation in payment services, whilst ensuring that risks across the payments value chain are mitigated. A representative from MAS will share how the new Act will enhance the regulatory framework for payment services in Singapore, strengthen consumer protection and engender confidence in the use of e-payments. Learn about the journey towards regulation that is modular, activity-based and facilitative of growth and development in the Singapore payments landscape. Hear also from a practitioner about the concerns and issues that may face the industry with the passing of the Act and its potential impact on current businesses.

ABOUT THE EVENT

The Payment Services Act 2019, passed in Parliament earlier this year, will fundamentally refresh payment services regulation in Singapore. The Act streamlines the regulation of payment services within a single activity-based legislation, and will replace the existing legislation for payment systems oversight, money changing and remittance businesses. It will provide a more conducive environment for innovation in payment services, whilst ensuring that risks across the payments value chain are mitigated. A representative from MAS will share how the new Act will enhance the regulatory framework for payment services in Singapore, strengthen consumer protection and engender confidence in the use of e-payments. Learn about the journey towards regulation that is modular, activity-based and facilitative of growth and development in the Singapore payments landscape. Hear also from a practitioner about the concerns and issues that may face the industry with the passing of the Act and its potential impact on current businesses.

ABOUT THE EVENT

The Payment Services Act 2019, passed in Parliament earlier this year, will fundamentally refresh payment services regulation in Singapore. The Act streamlines the regulation of payment services within a single activity-based legislation, and will replace the existing legislation for payment systems oversight, money changing and remittance businesses. It will provide a more conducive environment for innovation in payment services, whilst ensuring that risks across the payments value chain are mitigated. A representative from MAS will share how the new Act will enhance the regulatory framework for payment services in Singapore, strengthen consumer protection and engender confidence in the use of e-payments. Learn about the journey towards regulation that is modular, activity-based and facilitative of growth and development in the Singapore payments landscape. Hear also from a practitioner about the concerns and issues that may face the industry with the passing of the Act and its potential impact on current businesses.

ABOUT THE EVENT

The Payment Services Act 2019, passed in Parliament earlier this year, will fundamentally refresh payment services regulation in Singapore. The Act streamlines the regulation of payment services within a single activity-based legislation, and will replace the existing legislation for payment systems oversight, money changing and remittance businesses. It will provide a more conducive environment for innovation in payment services, whilst ensuring that risks across the payments value chain are mitigated. A representative from MAS will share how the new Act will enhance the regulatory framework for payment services in Singapore, strengthen consumer protection and engender confidence in the use of e-payments. Learn about the journey towards regulation that is modular, activity-based and facilitative of growth and development in the Singapore payments landscape. Hear also from a practitioner about the concerns and issues that may face the industry with the passing of the Act and its potential impact on current businesses.

ABOUT THE EVENT

The Payment Services Act 2019, passed in Parliament earlier this year, will fundamentally refresh payment services regulation in Singapore. The Act streamlines the regulation of payment services within a single activity-based legislation, and will replace the existing legislation for payment systems oversight, money changing and remittance businesses. It will provide a more conducive environment for innovation in payment services, whilst ensuring that risks across the payments value chain are mitigated. A representative from MAS will share how the new Act will enhance the regulatory framework for payment services in Singapore, strengthen consumer protection and engender confidence in the use of e-payments. Learn about the journey towards regulation that is modular, activity-based and facilitative of growth and development in the Singapore payments landscape. Hear also from a practitioner about the concerns and issues that may face the industry with the passing of the Act and its potential impact on current businesses.

ABOUT THE EVENT

The Payment Services Act 2019, passed in Parliament earlier this year, will fundamentally refresh payment services regulation in Singapore. The Act streamlines the regulation of payment services within a single activity-based legislation, and will replace the existing legislation for payment systems oversight, money changing and remittance businesses. It will provide a more conducive environment for innovation in payment services, whilst ensuring that risks across the payments value chain are mitigated. A representative from MAS will share how the new Act will enhance the regulatory framework for payment services in Singapore, strengthen consumer protection and engender confidence in the use of e-payments. Learn about the journey towards regulation that is modular, activity-based and facilitative of growth and development in the Singapore payments landscape. Hear also from a practitioner about the concerns and issues that may face the industry with the passing of the Act and its potential impact on current businesses.

ABOUT THE EVENT

The Payment Services Act 2019, passed in Parliament earlier this year, will fundamentally refresh payment services regulation in Singapore. The Act streamlines the regulation of payment services within a single activity-based legislation, and will replace the existing legislation for payment systems oversight, money changing and remittance businesses. It will provide a more conducive environment for innovation in payment services, whilst ensuring that risks across the payments value chain are mitigated. A representative from MAS will share how the new Act will enhance the regulatory framework for payment services in Singapore, strengthen consumer protection and engender confidence in the use of e-payments. Learn about the journey towards regulation that is modular, activity-based and facilitative of growth and development in the Singapore payments landscape. Hear also from a practitioner about the concerns and issues that may face the industry with the passing of the Act and its potential impact on current businesses.

ABOUT THE EVENT

The Payment Services Act 2019, passed in Parliament earlier this year, will fundamentally refresh payment services regulation in Singapore. The Act streamlines the regulation of payment services within a single activity-based legislation, and will replace the existing legislation for payment systems oversight, money changing and remittance businesses. It will provide a more conducive environment for innovation in payment services, whilst ensuring that risks across the payments value chain are mitigated. A representative from MAS will share how the new Act will enhance the regulatory framework for payment services in Singapore, strengthen consumer protection and engender confidence in the use of e-payments. Learn about the journey towards regulation that is modular, activity-based and facilitative of growth and development in the Singapore payments landscape. Hear also from a practitioner about the concerns and issues that may face the industry with the passing of the Act and its potential impact on current businesses.

ABOUT THE EVENT

The Payment Services Act 2019, passed in Parliament earlier this year, will fundamentally refresh payment services regulation in Singapore. The Act streamlines the regulation of payment services within a single activity-based legislation, and will replace the existing legislation for payment systems oversight, money changing and remittance businesses. It will provide a more conducive environment for innovation in payment services, whilst ensuring that risks across the payments value chain are mitigated. A representative from MAS will share how the new Act will enhance the regulatory framework for payment services in Singapore, strengthen consumer protection and engender confidence in the use of e-payments. Learn about the journey towards regulation that is modular, activity-based and facilitative of growth and development in the Singapore payments landscape. Hear also from a practitioner about the concerns and issues that may face the industry with the passing of the Act and its potential impact on current businesses.

ABOUT THE EVENT

The Payment Services Act 2019, passed in Parliament earlier this year, will fundamentally refresh payment services regulation in Singapore. The Act streamlines the regulation of payment services within a single activity-based legislation, and will replace the existing legislation for payment systems oversight, money changing and remittance businesses. It will provide a more conducive environment for innovation in payment services, whilst ensuring that risks across the payments value chain are mitigated. A representative from MAS will share how the new Act will enhance the regulatory framework for payment services in Singapore, strengthen consumer protection and engender confidence in the use of e-payments. Learn about the journey towards regulation that is modular, activity-based and facilitative of growth and development in the Singapore payments landscape. Hear also from a practitioner about the concerns and issues that may face the industry with the passing of the Act and its potential impact on current businesses.

ABOUT THE EVENT

The Payment Services Act 2019, passed in Parliament earlier this year, will fundamentally refresh payment services regulation in Singapore. The Act streamlines the regulation of payment services within a single activity-based legislation, and will replace the existing legislation for payment systems oversight, money changing and remittance businesses. It will provide a more conducive environment for innovation in payment services, whilst ensuring that risks across the payments value chain are mitigated. A representative from MAS will share how the new Act will enhance the regulatory framework for payment services in Singapore, strengthen consumer protection and engender confidence in the use of e-payments. Learn about the journey towards regulation that is modular, activity-based and facilitative of growth and development in the Singapore payments landscape. Hear also from a practitioner about the concerns and issues that may face the industry with the passing of the Act and its potential impact on current businesses.

ABOUT THE EVENT

The Payment Services Act 2019, passed in Parliament earlier this year, will fundamentally refresh payment services regulation in Singapore. The Act streamlines the regulation of payment services within a single activity-based legislation, and will replace the existing legislation for payment systems oversight, money changing and remittance businesses. It will provide a more conducive environment for innovation in payment services, whilst ensuring that risks across the payments value chain are mitigated. A representative from MAS will share how the new Act will enhance the regulatory framework for payment services in Singapore, strengthen consumer protection and engender confidence in the use of e-payments. Learn about the journey towards regulation that is modular, activity-based and facilitative of growth and development in the Singapore payments landscape. Hear also from a practitioner about the concerns and issues that may face the industry with the passing of the Act and its potential impact on current businesses.

ABOUT THE EVENT

The Payment Services Act 2019, passed in Parliament earlier this year, will fundamentally refresh payment services regulation in Singapore. The Act streamlines the regulation of payment services within a single activity-based legislation, and will replace the existing legislation for payment systems oversight, money changing and remittance businesses. It will provide a more conducive environment for innovation in payment services, whilst ensuring that risks across the payments value chain are mitigated. A representative from MAS will share how the new Act will enhance the regulatory framework for payment services in Singapore, strengthen consumer protection and engender confidence in the use of e-payments. Learn about the journey towards regulation that is modular, activity-based and facilitative of growth and development in the Singapore payments landscape. Hear also from a practitioner about the concerns and issues that may face the industry with the passing of the Act and its potential impact on current businesses.